“which smote the image upon his feet that were of iron and clay, and brake them to pieces”

STAGE 2:

“THEN was the iron, the clay, the brass, the silver, and the gold, broken to pieces TOGETHER, and became like the chaff of the summer threshingfloors.”

“The stone that smote the image became a great mountain, and filled the whole earth.”

“In the days of these kings shall the God of heaven set up a kingdom, which shall never be destroyed: and the kingdom shall not be left to other people, but it shall break in pieces and consume all these kingdoms, and it shall stand for ever.”

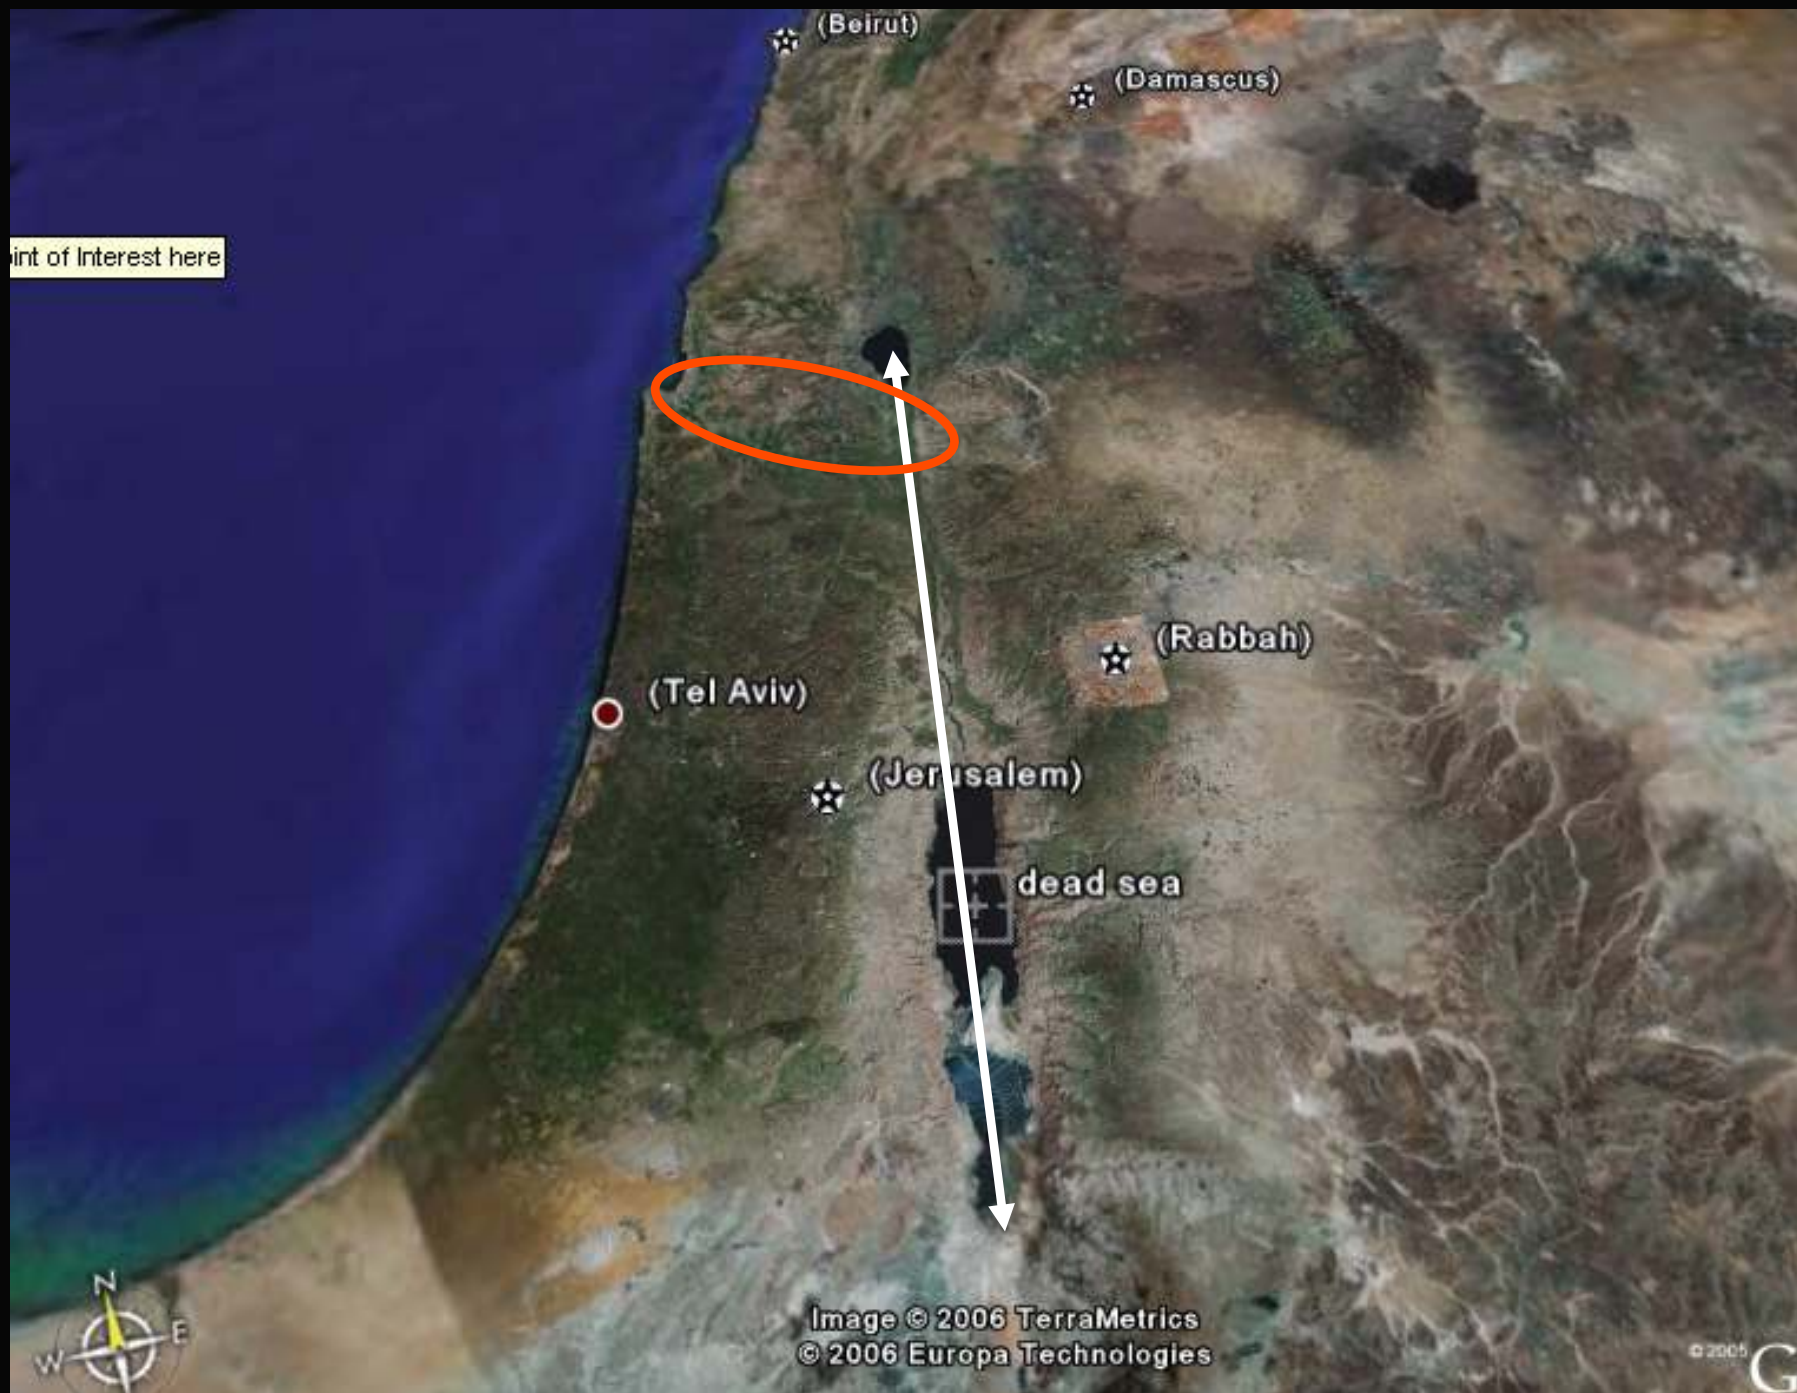

Israel... Christ's Battle-axe

“⁹And if ye go to war in your land against the enemy that oppresseth you, then ye shall blow an alarm with the trumpets; and ye shall be remembered before the LORD your God, and ye shall be saved from your enemies.”

Shooting at funeral defining moment in violent year

~~Gun-related homicides hit record in Toronto -- other cities also face spike in gun crime~~

Published: Friday, December 09, 2005

TORONTO -- Seconds after a bullet tore through his neck last month, Amon Beckles lay sprawled outside the sanctuary of a church, dying at the funeral of a friend whose shooting death he may have witnessed a week earlier.

In a metropolis where killings can be relegated to the B sections of the daily newspapers, but with a reputation of being one of the safest on the continent, it was a defining moment in what has been a bloody and violent year.

On the front steps of a house of God, the life of an 18-year-old was snuffed out prematurely, at the hands of a gun.

Beckles's murder was the 48th of 50 gun-related homicides in Toronto this year, believed to be the highest tally any Canadian municipality has ever seen.

When contrasted against a decade's worth of statistics on gun murders nationwide, the peak appears to be an aberration. There were 271 homicides committed across the country with a firearm 15 years ago. In 2004, there were 172.

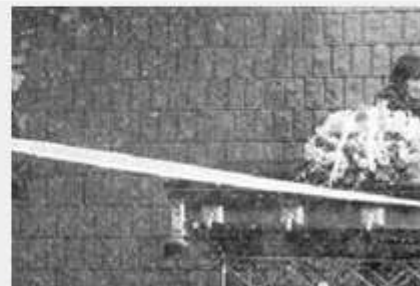

A decade after Canada passed laws that

Violent path of 'happy slapping'

By Chris Summers
BBC News

As four people are sentenced for the killing of David Morley in an attack which one of them claimed was filmed on a mobile phone, the BBC News website looks at the issues surrounding "happy slapping".

When the first mobile phone camera was launched in November 2000 its inventor probably never imagined it would be used to film people being beaten and bullied, let alone killed.

But sadly that is exactly what seems to have happened in the last few years.

David Morley, a 38-year-old barman, was beaten to death on 30 October last year by a gang of four young people. One of his killers told the Old Bailey the attack had been filmed on a mobile phone.

Jailing each member of the gang for between eight and 12 years, Judge Barker told them: "It seems that three of you

'Happy slap' training for pupils

Thousands of Tyneside youngsters are being taught how to deal with victims of so-called "happy slapping" attacks.

Staff from St John Ambulance plan to offer the training to almost 3,000 Newcastle pupils over three months.

The craze involves a violent attack which is "filmed" on a mobile camera phone and then distributed to others.

The training will feature a mock-up of an incident in which a youngster is found injured at a city railway station after an attack.

St John Ambulance claims the pioneering training could potentially save the lives of victims of violence.

Other training scenarios will include the aftermath of drug use, car crashes and home emergencies.
